As a wife of a long-haul trucker, I feel that the opposition by the NAB is totally out of line. The weather and traffic channels are a necessity for his job and safety. Having the ability to find out what is going on easily by a touch of a button is much better than constantly scanning for a radio station and then losing it before you get the information you need. Further more this is a country built on free enterprise and inventions. To block this service for which we pay monthly is against everything this country is built on. Local channels are for the people who live locally not those passing through.
